

ABSTRACT

IMPROVED STABILIZATION STRUCTURE FOR CPP GMR/TV

A magnetic head has a read sensor which includes at least one primary pinned layer, a barrier layer, and a free layer. An in-stack biasing structure having net magnetic 5 moment near zero, notated as $dM=0$, is constructed above the free layer. This in-stack biasing structure acts to stabilize the free layer by exchange coupling.